

Sodality Holds Reception Ceremonies This Sunday

Reception exercises will be held this Sunday in the Loyola College Chapel for new members of the Junior and Senior Sodality. These ceremonies will mark the end of a five-month probation period for the prospective Sodalists.

Summer Night Term Planned

The Loyola College Evening School is planning an eight-week summer session from May 29 to July 20. Classes will be held four times a week beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The session will be open to both men and women who desire credits toward a college degree or who seek self-improvement. The Rev. Arthur A. North, S. J., Dean of the Evening School, announced that in response to requests from City and State school teachers, the graduate division will offer courses in elementary school supervision and the core curriculum.

Former MSTO Head To Teach

Instructors for the two courses will be Dr. M. Theresa Wiedefeld, former president of Maryland State Teachers College, and Miss Mary Lucetta Sisk, retired supervisor in the county school system. Both Dr. Wiedefeld and Miss Sisk have a wide influence upon classroom procedure.

Dr. Horace E. Flack, director of the Maryland Bureau of Legislative Reference, is scheduled to present a course on state and local government.

Courses Listed

James F. Brewer, history professor at the United States Naval Academy, will be added to the history staff.

The entire proposed curriculum includes courses in business administration, education, English literature and writing, mathematics, psychology, history, political science, modern languages, philosophy, speech, sociology and theology.

Fr. Gustav Weigel To Deliver Eighth Evening School Lecture

The Rev. Gustav A. Weigel, S. J., professor of theology at Woodstock College, will lecture tonight at 7:45 in the parish hall of St. Ignatius Church on "The History of Holy Years." Father Weigel's talk is the eighth lecture of a series of nine sponsored by the Evening School of Loyola College.

The concluding talk of the series will be given next Friday by the Rev. Wilfrid J. Parsons, S. J., prominent author of many Catholic books and pamphlets. "Inside the Vatican" will be the subject of Fr. Weigel's lecture.

Father Weigel spent 11 years in Chile, where he was dean of the Theological School and professor of philosophy at the Catholic University of Chile. At present he is teaching at Woodstock College, Maryland.

Father Parsons served as dean of Georgetown University from 1939 to 1940. Since 1940 he has been professor of political science at Catholic University.

From 1925 to 1936 Father Parsons

The reception will begin with the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass at 9:00 a.m. Celebrant will be the Rev. Joseph A. d'Invilliers, S. J., moderator of the Junior Sodality.

After the Mass those Sodalists who have passed the interrogation tests on the rules of the society will receive their membership pins and diplomas. Mass recital of the special Act of Consecration will precede the presentations.

According to George M. Strahecker, prefect of the Junior Sodality, approximately twenty-two new members will be admitted. Several of these will enter the Senior Sodality.

Following the entrance formalities, breakfast will be served in the Oak Room for both Sodalities. The reception is sponsored jointly by the two organizations.

Rector To Represent City At Convention

The Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College, has been appointed by Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro to represent Baltimore at the 54th annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. The conference will be held in Philadelphia at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel on April 14 and 15. Dr. Dorothy Shields, professor of political science at Goucher College, is the second Baltimore delegate.

On Sunday, June 4, Father Talbot will address the graduating class of Morgan State College at their commencement, which begins at 6:00 p.m. Two hundred and fifty students will be graduated. Last Friday, St. Patrick's Day, the Rector attended a Solemn Mass at St. Patrick's Church by special invitation of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John F. Eckenrode.

Rev. Gustav A. Weigel, S. J.

served as editor in chief of America, Jesuit national magazine, being succeeded by the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College.

ROMAN SOLDIERS Council Janish, Thomas Garrity and Neale Smith cast lots for the robes of Christ in "Thy Kingdom Come."

'Thy Kingdom Come' Final Showing At Cadoa Tonight

The final performance of Thy Kingdom Come will be presented tonight at the Cadoa. Curtain time is 8:30. Tickets, priced at $5.75 for students and $1.20 for outsiders, are available at the door.

Thy Kingdom Come, the annual Lenten drama of the Mask and Rapier Society, is the story of the Passion and Death of Jesus Christ. It draws on analogy between the persecution of Christ during Biblical times and the present day attack upon the Church and her friends.

Fresh Fill Many Roles

Many of the leading roles are filled by freshmen, the most promising of whom, according to the Rev. Leo G. Monaghan, S. J., moderator of the society, is John Keleher, who portrays Caiaphas. Other freshmen and their roles are Raymond Penn, James; Malcolm Rose, Sarden; and Daniel Mackey, Judas.

Returning to this year's cast in their same roles are Lawrence Davis, Conrad Janish, Emerson Clarke, James Dietz and Daniel Downey, who play Pilate, Longinus, Peter, the Narrator and Witness in the court of Caiaphas, respectively.

More Of Cast Listed

Joseph Sillis plays the part of Thomas; Richard Cadigan, John; Nenie Smith, Martin; Thomas Garrity, Harroon; Bernard Wertzer, Malchus; Howard France, Pilatus; and Joseph Bartolomeo, Second Witness.

Gerry Uhlhorn, Gayle Phillips, Joseph Serio and Edwin Watson are the High Priests. In all, there is a cast of over fifty Loyolans.

Mullikin Gets Role In Touring Musical

William Mullikin, who was graduated from Loyola last January, has recently become a member of the road company of South Pacific, a current Broadway musical comedy. He will begin rehearsals in April and make his first professional appearance in Chicago later this year. He has been given the role of the professor in the show.

While attending Loyola, Mullikin was a member of the Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society. He also belonged to several local theatrical organizations.

New Holy Year Pilgrimage Set

A new Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome is being offered to Loyola students. The Rev. Edward S. Hauber, S. J., professor of chemistry, will lead the group.

The tourists will sail from New York on June 26, arriving in Dublin, Ireland, nine days later. Two days will be spent in Dublin, after which the group will leave for London, England, where several days will be spent sight-seeing.

To Visit Paris

Leaving London on the afternoon of July 9, they will sail to Le Havre, France, and there entrain for Paris. Scheduled for July 10 are visits to the Church of Notre Dame, the Eiffel Tower, the Arch of Peace and the Champs Elysees. Also included in the three day stay in Paris is an excursion to Versailles.

On July 12 the pilgrimage will leave for a two-day stay in Lourdes and thence to Italy via Paray le Monial, France. First stop in Italy will be Turin, followed by a visit to the Italian Alps and Aosta.

Visit Florence Shrines

One day will be spent in Florence, where they will arrive on the morning of July 18. Sightseeing tours will be conducted through the city's many shrines. At midnight, the group will board a train for Rome.

Highlights of the Roman visit will be participation in the ceremonies at the Basilica of St. Peter, a special audience with His Holiness Pope Pius XII and a visit to the four major basilicas and to the Vatican Museum.

On July 22 the tourists will leave Rome for Paris and Le Havre, arriving in New York on August 2. Cost of the itinerary, including meals, is $780.00.

Debaters Place Among Top Ten At Kentucky

Winning five out of six debates, four representatives of Loyola's Tau Kappa Alpha chapter placed among the top ten teams in the country in the National Tau Kappa Alpha Debating Tournament. The meet was held at the University of Kentucky on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 9-11.

Loyola's team consisted of Edward O. Clarke, Jr., and James H. Dietz, negative; and Bertram Morales and Joseph Blair, affirmative. Mr. James Perrott, moderator of the chapter, accompanied the Evergreen debaters.

Late Arrival Cost Points

Owing to their late arrival at the meet, the Loyolans missed the first two rounds of debate and lost a considerable number of points therefor. Their high final score resulted from wins in five of the subsequent matches.

The Evergreen affirmative pair defeated the University of Richmond, Murray College, and Purdue; while the Loyola negative overcame Indiana State and Waynesburg, losing to the University of Denver.

Clarke Selected Best

In the rounds of impromptu speaking Blair and Dietz tied for sixth place, earning 6.5 and 6.4, respectively. One hundred twenty-five contestants participated in the impromptu speaking.

Clarke was voted the best Loyola debater.

At the meet the National Council of Tau Kappa Alpha met and voted awards for the six outstanding American speakers for the year. Selected were President Harry S. Truman, Lowell Thomas, Robert Manley Hutchins, James Carey, Erle Johnston, and Dr. Ralph Sackman.

Classes Stop For Two Days

Loyola was forced to suspend classes for two days on March 9 and 10 because of an outbreak of colds and grippe. The closing affected only the day school; evening classes were held as usual on Thursday night and Saturday morning.

Nearly 20 percent of the faculty members and 25 percent of the student body were absent because of illness. The decision to close was announced by the Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S. J., Dean of the College, after consultation with the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola.

With so many Faculty members and students ill, it became necessary to call a holiday since pupils could not make proper progress, according to Father Sullivan, who added, "The idea back of the holiday is to give those ill a chance to get sufficient rest to restore them to health."

Classes resumed on March 13 with the majority of those absent returning.

Seniors Start Last Retreat On March 17

Less than a week after classes resume following the Easter holidays, the members of the Senior Class will begin retreat exercises at Manresa-on-the-Severn and on the Evergreen campus. The split program is a carry-over from previous years when large classes exceeded the capacity of the local Jesuit retreat house.

Seniors will leave for Manresa on Monday afternoon, April 17. Exercises will begin at 5:15 p.m. that day and continue through April 19, under the direction of the Rev. Neil Gargan, S.J., president of Gonzaga High School and rector of St. Aloysius Parish in Washington, D. C.

For students unable to attend the Manresa retreat, programs for Catholic and non-Catholic students will be held on campus from April 17 to 19. The Rev. Charles McInlyre, S.J., will direct the services for the Catholic members of the class. Father McInlyre is a member of the Jesuit Mission Band of the Maryland Province. A series of lectures will be presented simultaneously for the non-Catholic group. The speaker for the latter program will be announced by the Dean's office in the near future.

Astronomy Students Will Visit Fels Planetarium

Members of the astronomy class will visit the Fels Planetarium, at the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, on Friday, April 14, announced Mr. Donald M. Slager, instructor.

Approximately thirty astronomy students, together with Mr. Slager, attended a special demonstration at the Maryland Academy of Sciences' planetarium, at the Enoch Pratt Library, on Tuesday, March 14.

There they heard a lecture on the various constellations as they appear in the heavens from dusk till dawn. They also saw a demonstration of the apparent loop in the path of the planet Mars.

After the lecture the Loyolans observed Saturn and Mars through the planetarium's telescope.

The planetarium presents regular demonstrations every Thursday evening at 7:30.

Club News

Cell, Wilson, Pi Discussed

• Math Club

Barkley Fritz, '41, addressed the Mathematics Club on Wednesday, March 15, on the subject of the calculation of Pi to 2,040 decimal places and that of "e" to 2,256 places. Mr. Fritz is now engaged in operating the Elnac electronic computer at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds. He had previously done graduate work at Johns Hopkins.

Other talks recently delivered before the Math Club include that of Mr. Hunsford L. Farris, of the Loyola department of classics, which was on "Time." In the future Mr. Walter Dawkins will speak on "La Placa Transform" and the "Chess-Playing Machine."

• History Academy

Woodrow Wilson's foreign policy was the subject of discussion at the meeting of the History Academy on March 9 at the home of Malcolm Rose, '53. The discussion was the continuation of a conference on the former president's personality and administration begun at a previous meeting.

The club, which meets on alternate Thursday evenings, made a study of the life of Benjamin Franklin on March 23.

Tentative plans have been made for the annual banquet which is open to members of the history department and history academy. The Park Plaza is being considered as a suitable site for the affair and May 4 has been set as a convenient date.

Election of officers for next year will take place at the meeting immediately preceding the banquet.

• Mendel Club

All activities of the Mendel Club have been suspended pending the recovery of the Rev. Joseph S. Didusch, S.J., the club's moderator. The talk on "The Cell" by George Bauernschub, Jr., which was scheduled for March 14, has been postponed indefinitely. The most recent talk was that of John J. Mercaldo, on "Lysenkoism." Also planned for future meetings are "Germ Warfare," by Donald E. Cahill; "Extra-Sensory Perception," John M. Eckert; and "Hormones and Behavior," Charles J. Foley.

• Yet Another

Instigation is under way toward the organization of a Canasta Club on campus. Not yet given Student Council approval, the club is being promoted by Joseph Bartolomeo and Thomas Garrity.

Tickets for the Alumni Banquet are available at the Evening School office and can also be obtained by calling Al Petersan at TU 6537, or MU 5320, extension 389 (during business hours). Captains have been appointed to contact each member of every class, but those not supplied in this manner are urged to communicate with either of the above parties.

Mr. Petersan mentioned that as the banquet is the high point of alumni activity for the year, each alumnus should be sure to obtain his tickets as soon as possible. They are priced at $5.00, or an at-cost $3.50 for May and July seniors.

Marine Drive Planned Here

An opportunity to become commissioned officers in the Marine Corps Reserve will be offered Loyola sophomores and freshmen March 29 and 30, when Marine Capt. Richard L. Sullivan visits the campus, according to a recruiting release.

Captain Sullivan, in charge of procuring applicants for the Marine Corps' Platoon Leaders Class program, will make the library his headquarters while at Loyola. PLC, a major source of procuring officers for the Marine Corps and Marine Corps Reserve, is a plan whereby college students receive officer training during two summer encampments at Quantico, Va.

Commissions Offered

After successful completion of these two six-week periods, enrollees are commissioned as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve upon receipt of their baccalaureate degree. A small percentage of enrollees are offered regular Marine Corps commissions. Platoon Leaders do not take military subjects during their academic year.

Certain pre-eminently qualified college students who are veterans with at least a year's service may be accepted in advanced standing so that only one summer training period is required before commissioning.

Salaries Paid

Students undergoing initial summer training are promoted to corporal and are paid $95.00 a month. Second-year trainees are sergeants and receive $117.60 monthly. During training they receive free housing, food, uniforms, medical care, and transportation to and from their homes.

The age limit is 18 to 25 years. Students who will be 25 or over on July 1 of the year they are graduated are ineligible.

First year training emphasizes basic subjects and indoctrination, while the senior course stresses tactics and qualifies graduates as infantry troop leaders.

'Most Significant Session' Among Three S. C. Meetings Reported

The last full session of the Student Council deliberated a question of such gravity that the Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., declared it was the most important meeting he had ever attended. The March 16 meeting was adjourned after brief consideration of plans for Parents' Day in order to allow members to attend the Notre Dame Sing Song.

On March 2, the meeting which Fr. Talbot termed most significant was almost entirely occupied with an hour-long debate in a committee of the whole on a motion by F. X. Trainor that the administration be formally advised of the existence on the campus of a group "thwarting the purpose of Loyola College . . . bitterly and actively opposed to scholastic philosophy . . . not sincere and well-meaning non-Catholics, but exponents of atheistic, skeptical and other harmful systems." The motion was finally defeated, 10 to 6.

Flu Cancels Meeting

No meeting was held on March 9, during the recess called because of wide-spread influenza. During the interim, however, several committees which had reported no progress at the earlier meetings were able to conclude their business.

No further action was reported on the cut system investigation on March 9, but Fr. Talbot declared that he was taking it under personal attention. President Emidio Bianco reported that he had appropriated a nominal amount from the Alan Meehan television fund for repairs needed for the set, now in Children's Hospital. James Garland declared a net profit for the Class of 1953 of $31 on their Carnival Hop, with some expenses outstanding. The Junior Sodality announced its current clothing drive, in conjunction with the NFCCS overseas relief program.

Cut Committee Empowered

The February 23 meeting was presided over by vice-president Peter Stehle in the absence of President Bianco. Richard Cadigan and

All mail addressed to students and activity heads may be obtained from the new student mail box, atop the Day School Faculty mail drop in the lobby of the Library Building, according to the Student Council.

Bianco, the committee to investigate the cut system, were empowered to report suggestions as to improvement directly to the administration, rather than the Council.

The NSA reported that Kenneth Grimm, William Coffey, Richard Cadigan, John Spelacy, Melvin Cohen and William Stephen would represent Loyola at the regional congress, held February 25 and 26 at the University of Maryland. Finally, a motion by Eugene Corrigan provided for a committee to suggest provision of napkins by the Slater System, in the name of the "Loyola gentleman."

Alumni Doings

Ten Percent Of Loyola Alumni Association Members Pay Dues

by John J. Pugh '43

A check of the records reveals that hardly more than ten percent of the alumni have paid their dues for the current year. There may be a number of explanations. Some forget. If we knew them by name, we could send them a postcard reminding them to read this column as a reminder of the things they forget. Others can't accumulate that much (sic) money at one time. We might advise them to take it out of the food account whereupon the wife's gentle urging would surely encourage more thrifty habits. Some don't want to pay. We have no objection to this so long as we don't hear them griping about what the Association doesn't do for them. The only thing a penniless outfit can do for anyone is beg. Finally, there are some who, at the moment, cannot afford it. They deserve credit for having enough sense not to pay under the circumstances. Amen.

There is an article elsewhere on this page about the banquet, so we will do no more than refer to it and hope to see you there.

Congratulations to Miss Virginia Zimmerman and Spencer L. Davidson, '48, who are scheduled to begin the life of strife together sometime in May.

NFCCS Region Congress Meets

Catholic lay leadership will be the theme of the NFCCS Regional Congress of the Baltimore-Washington Region on March 25 and 26, senior delegate Edward Pula stated last week. The meeting will be conducted at Trinity College and the Catholic University.

Several Catholic leaders in labor, business, and law will lecture at the conference, which will be open to the public. Prominent parishioners and college students will also participate.

Loyola College was awarded the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine commission for Baltimore, Washington, and Emmitsburg at the regional meeting held at Mt. St. Agnes College recently. Neil Bathon, '53, was appointed chairman of the committee.

As a result of this commission, the Evergreen delegation has received another vote on the regional council. This will enable Loyola to have a stronger influence on the decisions of the council and to command more recognition.

In addition to regional activities, the campus delegation co-operated with the Junior Sodality by co-sponsoring a clothing drive last week. The main purpose of the drive was to aid a Polish seminarian, who expressed a need for clothing in a recent letter.

Counseling Tests To Determine Aptitude Of Loyola Sophomores

Two hundred fifteen Loyola sophomores are taking the National College Sophomore Counseling Tests, which began yesterday at 8:45 a.m. The examinations, which will end this afternoon, are sponsored by the Co-operative Test Division of the Educational Testing Service.

Loyola sophomores represent a small number of the 21,000 sophomores from 165 colleges and universities throughout the country who are taking part in the program. The purpose of the program is to determine the standing of the average college sophomore and to enable the individual to compare his own abilities to the average.

The tests will also serve in the determination of aptitude, which will facilitate the counseling of students in preparation for careers.

The examinations consist of questions designed to indicate the student's abilities and previous education. Each student will receive a notification of the results and an explanation of the significance of his scores to the determination of his aptitude.

A chart will also be given to each student to enable him to plot his scores graphically. This will serve as a further indication of individual interests.

Mr. Henry Zerhusen, director of the Loyola College Placement Bureau, states: "The results of these tests will be a valuable aid in giving vocational advice."

Father Keller's All-Star Movie Is Presented Here

Father Keller's 40-minute movie, You Can Change the World, and two other films were shown in room 110S yesterday afternoon for the benefit of the student body. The first film, which was produced by Leo McCarey with an all-star cast, is an adaptation from the book of the same name. It describes the work of the Christopher movement, founded by Father Keller several years ago.

Europe by Air, produced by American Airlines, and Rome were the two short films presented.

40 Students Preparing For Teaching Catechism

About 40 Loyola students are now taking a course which will prepare them to become lay catechetical teachers under the auspices of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. This course is part of a general drive to increase the number of religion instructors now teaching in the Archdiocese.

The course is being taught by two nuns from the Mission Helpers of the Sacred Heart. They meet the Loyola students every Monday afternoon for a two-hour class lasting from 3:30 to 5:30.

"I consider this one of the most worthwhile projects we have undertaken at Loyola," says the Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S. J., Dean of Loyola. He added that this course will be repeated next year, if possible.

Seventeen of the students are members of the Class of 1953, while 13 are sophomores. The remainder are comprised of juniors and seniors. These men will be qualified to teach Catholic students who are attending public high schools in Baltimore.

In addition to the Monday afternoon class, which is on "The Methods and Techniques of Teaching Religion," a supplementary refresher course in elementary religion is being offered every Saturday morning for those students who wish to take it.

The Critilog

The 45,000,000 eligible voters who didn't exercise their franchise could well take a lesson from the superb motion picture All The King's Men.

Warren's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel shows the rise to power of an honest backwoodsman who is so fanatic for victory in politics that no hint of chicanery, skulduggery, or empty-promising is too repugnant to his morals.

Broderick Crawford for once gets a chance to do something besides measure the floor and hallow. He admirably portrays the fictionalized counterpart of the dictatorial Huey Long.

Filmfare's successor to Barnum, Cecil B. DeMille, has produced and directed his mightiest epic since King of Kings in his presentation of Samson and Delilah. With the exception of Hedy Lamarr's insipid portrayal of the heroine, the entire work is a masterpiece.

A change from the cinema to the legitimate theatre is necessary in order to give the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo the acclaim which it merits. This should be a must on everyone's seasonal program.

Education - Department Head Outlines Teachers' Requisites

(The following is an article written by Mr. Cyril M. Witte, of the Evening School, to aid those contemplating a teaching career. THE GREYHOUND feels that the information will be of definite use to these students.)

Good teachers are born, not made.

Perhaps. But no Department of Education is giving a teaching position to anyone presenting only his birth certificate. Like any other profession, teaching demands specific professional preparation, preparation which you can receive at Loyola. If you are interested, read on. You can't get even the minimum required preparation in one semester, so start planning your program now. Maryland's requirements for a secondary school teaching certificate are as follows: (a) Completion of a standard four-year college course, or the equivalent, with rank in the upper four-fifths of the class. To teach any of the following subjects, you need the number of semester hours specified: English or Social Studies — 24; Mathematics, Latin, French, Chemistry, or Biology — 18; High School Science — 27. (b) Sixteen semester hours in Education courses, as follows: Educational Psychology — 3; Principles of High School Teaching — 3; Special Methods, Observational Psychology — 3; Principles of High School Teaching — 3; Special Methods, Observation and Practice Teaching — 5; elective courses in secondary education — 5. It is recommended that credit for 18 semester hours in Education be earned, though only 16 are required.

These courses should be taken in the third and fourth year of college work, and in the following sequence: Educational Psychology, Principles of High School Teaching, ing, Special Methods, Observation and Practice Teaching, with electives at your convenience. The first two may be taken concurrently, but prior to the latter two, which may also be taken concurrently.

Loyola College Evening School offers opportunity to gain more than 40 credits in undergraduate Education. You can start this summer, when six credits can be earned. The program of courses is outlined in the Evening School catalogue for the Fall and Spring Semesters, 1950-51, and in a special Summer Bulletin.

One final word: the hue and cry for secondary school teachers has faded to a scattered, localized whimper. The need at present is for elementary school teachers. This does not mean that there is no longer a need for good secondary school teachers—there will always be a need for good teachers, and if you are a potentially good teacher, you are needed and wanted in the public school system. The teaching profession has come of age. It is no longer a last resort for those who can find nothing else to do. It is a profession with a grave responsibility, demanding specific preparation.

Loyola's Loss

THE GREYHOUND can but express its sincerest condolences to the family and friends of Earl Schmidt upon his death from injuries sustained in an automobile mishap on the night of March 11. It seems unnecessary to recall again the varied activities of this Loyola student. His familiar face will be missed in the classrooms and Gymnasium. The student body is aware of its loss, and it has expressed its grief in an admirable manner.

In addition to the fine student attendance at the funeral, it has been suggested that a student-sponsored medal, to be known as the Earl Schmidt Memorial Medal, be awarded each year to the winner of the Mason-Dixon diving championship. If an opportunity arises to further this fine idea, take a part.

From the Library

Friends in History 104 or thereabouts recently alerted us to a lively book. Here's how. As we understand it, Mr. Galileo Galilei, the distinguished atomic physicist, is eyed considerably askance by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He's been playing the Copernican System, which Einstein labels as definitely subversive. Pushing their researches beyond the Encyclopedia Britannica's dossier on Galileo and probing away back into secondary sources, our scholarly friends discover the inside story of Mr. Galileo's perils in volume 25 of one Pastor's History of the Papes. And they pass the good word to us.

A fast man with a book, we're rushing through this Pastor's 34 volumes, all crammed with evidence against numerous other shady characters. Fast catching up with events, Pastor is expected any day now to dash off volume 35, bringing his exposures right down to 1745 A.D. While waiting around for it, we'll peruse Mann's 18-volume Lives of the Papes, which by a fortunate coincidence fills in the brief period from 590 to 1304, where Pastor's revelations conveniently take over.

Anyone eager for an exciting evening with the most startling disclosures since Carlson's Under Cover is invited to borrow all but Pastor's twelfth volume, which we're devouring tonight (on the momentous pre-war days of Luther's popular-front movement). If you can't wait, we'll lend you Janssen's best-selling History of the German People.

The Practical Man

Recently, a Loyola business-administration graduate who was being interviewed by a prospective employer apologized for his low marks in philosophy, especially in ethics.

"That's all right," replied the businessman; "your marks in the business subjects are good, and that's all that interests us."

It would be difficult to find a better statement of the viewpoint of the modern materialist, who cares little for the restrictions imposed by ethics and whose actions merely serve to confirm this outlook.

This kind of man has no concept of spiritual values; to him everything must be measured against a yardstick calibrated either in dollars and cents or in terms of personal convenience. His plight is sad—and dangerous.

We at Loyola are indeed grateful that our curriculum includes subjects concerned with basic values and designed to give one a wholesome Weltanschauung and make the whole man; for the future of a world confused and threatened with merciless destruction depends upon him.

From The Reader

To the editor of THE GREYHOUND
Dear Sir:

At the outset of this year, members of the faculty and student body at Loyola predicted a "banner year" for the Class of '52—the centenary graduates from the college.

Activity and initiative from the present Sophomore class has been most disappointing. Aside from the traditional, and almost compulsory, Freshmen Welcoming Dance, the sophomore class has pursued a laissez faire policy in regard to sponsored activities. The class has done nothing. What is worse—the class has TRIED nothing! Chances for dances, smokers, etc., have slipped by, until now a group that was heralded as one of the most efficient and promising bodies of students has become the most slacking, inept representatives in the extracurricular activity field.

What are the reasons? Who is to blame? Why is '52—as a class—afraid to bold an activity? Sophomores are the leaders in other campus organizations—why is the class itself inefficient?

This is intended as neither a personal and/or political attack on the present officers of '52, nor a reflection on them for this inaction. It is merely a sincere hope that those officers will soon find conditions and circumstances ripe for action rather than procrastination.

Sincerely,
RICHARD F. CADIGAN '52

Frankie Laine Cuts More Wied Waxings

by Richard Coleman

Well, a good good bello to you. Lots of interesting recording news has happened since the last edition in which this column appeared.

First, Frankie Laine has come forth with two more very weird tunes. One is titled Satan Wears A Satin Gown and the other is Sicamp Girl. Laine is listed as one of the composers of the first tune mentioned. It sounds like something he would write. The majority of the Laine fans seem to feel that Frankie has a great voice and a great style. All this writer can say is that we think he set the music world back about twenty years. But, everyone has a right to his own something-or-other. Right? All I can say in the way of criticism is that both of these tunes and the renditions are weird.

Popular music history was made about three weeks ago when the musical director of Mercury was offered more dough from Columbia. He took it! His name is Mitch Miller. Mitch replaces Manie Sacks, one of the vice-presidents at Columbia. Hugo Winterhalter, a pretty fine arranger, also left Columbia and is now producing nice music for Victor. Mitch Miller having some interest in Laine and Damone is taking these two gentlemen with him and adding them to the artist line-up at Columbia. Dewey Bergman, formerly with the new King line of pop music just joined the staff at Victor. Something like this in the music world is nothing short of a revolution.

To back my statement about Winterhalter above I would like to ask you to give a listen to his first Victor release. He has his own band and chorus give out with a brand new boild which is out of this world. It is called Count Every Star. This combination of good musical talent and one of those rare tunes that has a little bit of sincere meaning in the words makes for a package that just can not miss.

Swim, Cage Teams Win Seconds In M-D Tourneys

by Bob Bourbon

This past winter's athletic endeavors here at school, notably the Mason-Dixon Tournaments, produced a number of surprises, and from a Loyola standpoint, most of them turned out to be unpleasant ones. American University, winner of both the basketball and swimming championships, improved progressively through the season, and in both instances was at its best when it counted. Loyola had won the cage tourney for the past three years and swimming for the past two, and while no one likes to lose it must be borne in mind that maybe the other fellow gets tired of losing too. We'll get over it. There's always next year.

Our freshmen-flavored wrestling squad found it tough sledding most of the season, and after a brief flash of brilliance in the quarter-finals of the mat tourney, had to bow to the weight of greater experience. They should do much better in 1951.

As for individual stars we had Mike Zedalis, Bob Anderson, Bill Johnson, Vince Gallagher, and Mel Baldwin in basketball. Swimming came through with a surprise or two also, developing a top-flight group, which among others, included sprint-men Jerry Rooney and Bob Bollinger and breaststroker-diver Dick Lalley. Perhaps the tank team's steadiest and most inspiring performance, however, was turned in by the Greyhounds' quiet-spoken captain, Bill Klarner.

Bill, a breaststroker also, swept through nine regular-season meets without a defeat, and on the weekend of the M-D tourney he executed a real iron-man stunt. In the time trials on Friday, March 10, he won his heat, won the championship in his division on Saturday, and on Sunday he annexed the breaststroke title in the South Atlantic Championships, setting a new record in the second of these events.

But on a more somber note, the saddest surprise of all came two weeks ago when it was learned that Earl Schmidt, sophomore student and diving star, had died as a result of injuries incurred in an automobile accident a week earlier. We were stunned.

Earl came to Loyola after a highly successful athletic career, both on the swimming and track teams, at Baltimore City College. His natural abilities quickly won him first-string positions in diving and pole vaulting on Greyhound teams. He won the Mason-Dixon spring-board championship in 1949 and was easily the top diver in the league this season.

Earl was a grand boy and a wonderful competitor, and the establishment by Loyola students of the Earl Schmidt Memorial Trophy, to be awarded each year to the best diver in the Mason-Dixon Conference, will be a tangible manifestation of the admiration and affection which all of us felt towards him.

A seven-week, 55-event spring sports program, one of the heaviest Loyola has attempted, begins next Saturday afternoon at Evergreen, when Bish Baker's Lacrosse diehards mash sticks with Johns Hopkins. Early the following week three of our other four sports swing into action, all of them trying to better their 1949 records. Baseball shouldn't be too hard-pressed to improve on last season's mark of nine wins in 22 games, provided Lefty Reitz's pitching and first base problem is brought to a satisfactory solution. Track and Tennis will have to bank heavily on freshmen for their wins, but we have some good ones around. Golf seems set for its best year ever.

Lacrosse faces the toughest job of any, and next Saturday's game promises to make it no easier. This year Hopkins will bring to Evergreen what is probably the strongest outfit a Loyola ten has ever faced. The loss of coach Howdy Meyers should make little or no difference, because anything the Jays haven't learned from him by now isn't worth knowing.

We respect Hopkins, but the general feeling here is that what happened for three quarters last year could just as easily happen four this year.—No?

Basketball Team Bows, 54-55, In Top Contest of Tournament

by Joe Steffens

The Mason-Dixon Tournament, which was held at Evergreen on March 2, 3, and 4, marked the close of Loyola College's basketball season. The Greyhounds downed Bridgewater and Hampden Sydney before bowing to top-seeded American U. in the finals.

In the initial game, the Hounds drubbed the Bridgewater Eagles to the tune of 63 to 36. Bridgewater, using a full-court, man-to-man defense, stymied Loyola in the opening minutes of the game. However, the host team, by taking advantage of its superior height and fast-break managed to keep control of the backboards and outrun its opponent for most of the game.

Mike Zedalis paced the victors with a 16-point effort, followed by Bob Anderson and Billy Johnson, who tallied 11 markers apiece.

Hampden-Sydney Second Victim

Hampden Sydney became the Hounds' second victim as the Virginia Ave was downed, by a score of 74 to 57. Although the Evergreen quintet emerged the victor by a 17-point margin, the game was still in doubt with only ten minutes remaining of a hectic tilt. It was at this point that the Green and Grey's depth spelled the difference. Sparked by the prolific Anderson and Zedalis, who dumped 24 and 20 points, respectively, through the webbing, Loyola pulled away in the closing minutes to cop the decision.

The tournament ran true to form as the final night of the 1950 classic brought together American U. and Loyola in the top game of the event. The Eagle quintet earned a hard-fought decision over a stub.

Eagle Mermen Upset Hounds In Finals

Loyola College and American University dominated the 1950 M-D Swimming Tournament, held on March 10, 11, at the A. U. pool, each taking five firsts and breaking four records.

Other teams entered were Roanoke College, Catholic University, Johns Hopkins, and Randolph Macon College.

Greyhounds Were Favored

The Greyhounds, with an impressive record, in and out of conference competition, were favored to win. American swam like a team inspired in the trials, however, and qualified twelve men for the finals. This was half again as many as Loyola's eight and they constituted more than one-third of all the finalists.

The eight from Evergreen put up a good battle, nevertheless, and before the tournament was over it had turned into a dual meet between Loyola and their hosts.

Records fell like autumn leaves as first Loyola and then A. U. took the lead. At the end of the 100-yd. sprint, the fifth event, A. U. led 28½ to 27½.

Nip-And-Tuck Race

Later, with A. U. leading 34½ to 27½, Loyola took first and second in the 200-yd. breaststroke to lead by one point, 35½ to 34½. In the 440-yd. freestyle A. U. swept first, second and third, however, and were never headed thereafter.

The final totals were A. U. 56½, L. C. 47½, C. U. 10, R. C. 5, R-M. C. 5, and J. H. U. 4.

New Records Set:

220 Freestyle — Bailey, A. U., 2:27.8.
200 Breaststroke — Klarner, Loyola, 2:38.1.
150 Backstroke — Briggs, A. U., 1:47.4.
100 Freestyle — Rooney, Loyola, 0:55:6.

Green And Grey Grapplers Finish Fifth; Jays Take Fourth Straight Conference Mat Crown

by John Mercaldo

Homewood was the scene of the 1950 Mason-Dixon Wrestling tournament, held on Friday and Saturday, March 10, 11. Loyola finished fifth.

The field of eight schools and 57 athletes was again led by Johns Hopkins, last year's winner. The Hopkins team came out on top with 35 points, followed by Gallaudet with 28; Catholic U., 18; Towson State Teachers, 15; Loyola, 14; University of Baltimore, 12; Western Maryland, 7; and American U., 0.

The Greyhound grapplers made a good showing for a team which had been plagued by injuries all year. Steve Krizan, undefeated 155-pound contender, was lost by injuries sustained during the last week of practice, as was 175-pounder Jim Garland.

Carter Beese led the Loyola squad through the tournament, being upset by a close decision in the finals. Ted Haupt captured third place in the 136-pound division, as did the promising Neal Bathon in the 145-pound bracket.

In the 121-pound bracket Hopkins' Charley Brunzman, two-year title-holder, was thrown by Camille Desmerels, of Gallaudet. Desmerels proved to be the champion of his class as he threw each of his three opponents.

Gallaudet's star 136-pound wrestler, Matt Burns, was victim of a minor upset as he was decisioned, 6 to 2, by Hopkins' Bud Potter.

Harry Tighe completed a four-year supremacy in the lower weight classes—121, 128, 136 and 145—as he rallied against Gallaudet's Dean Swain to win a 10-to-6 decision.

In the 155-pound division Ernie Lelpold of Hopkins, showed some of his former prowess after quite a layoff, decisioning Bill Hall of Catholic U.

At 165-pounds, Catholic University's Bill DeYoung again decisioned Frank Turk of Gallaudet, 8 to 2. DeYoung had registered five falls in dual meets during the season but he was held to a decision by Turk.

And at 175, Andrew Varnick of the strongly challenging Gallaudet team went against Pete Gergelus of Towson Teachers. Gergelus had planned Varnick a week before the tournament but had to be satisfied with a 5-to-0 win.

The heavyweight division provided a tough upset for Loyola adherents as Carter Beese was upset by the Jays' Walt Lapinski, 2 to 1, as time ran out.

Two weeks previous to the tourney the grapplers had defeated Georgetown University 21 to 13.

Swimmers Upset In Tank Tourney . . .

Before the M-D tourney, the swimming team added its sixth and seventh victories of the season at the expense of Scranton University and Swarthmore College. The tankmen took eight of nine firsts to crush Scranton, 53 to 22. The Swarthmore meet wasn't quite as easy but Loyola won, 43 to 32, a decisive victory.

A look at the tankmen's season record will find that the mermen were able to come out on top in seven of their nine scheduled meets. One of the victories registered was a 41-10-34 triumph over the newly crowned champs of American University.

The Greyhounds losses were to the power-laden squad of La Salle College of Philadelphia and North Carolina State College. Loyola's wins besides the ones mentioned were over Dickinson, Catholic U., Roanoke, and Georgetown.

Another Chesterfield cigarette contest has been announced. The object of the contest is to guess the final score of the Loyola-Hopkins lacrosse game to be played April 1. Cool Floor Play

The tussle was marked by cool ball handling and clever floor play on the part of both teams. The game was close from start to finish save for a brief period in the first half when Loyola established a ten-point margin.

The second stanza was as closely contested as the first, but with about 45 seconds remaining the District five snagged a six-point advantage. The Hounds staged a determined rally which fell short by a scant one point as the game ended.

Frosh Quint Ends Season With 21-And-6 Cage Mark

by Andy Marx

Coach Jim Lacy's Freshmen cagers ended their '49-50 basketball season in second place by bowing to American University's Frosh on March 4 at Evergreen, by the score of 46 to 44. The game was a play-off between the first and second teams in the conference. In regular season play, the Hounds had captured first place.

The victors were behind at halftime, 19 to 24, but blew open the game in the third quarter by scoring 12 points to the Hounds' five. In the final fiercely-fought period, both teams tallied 15 apiece.

Captain Ed Kowalewski emerged as the evening's high man by scoring 12 points, followed by Nap Doherty's and Gene Carney's nine.

21-And-6 Overall Record

In overall competition, the Green and Grey posted an exceptional 21-and-6 record. Guard Nap Doherty paced the squad in the twenty-seven games with 356 points for a 13.2 average per game. Forward Bob Schuler averaged 10.4 per game to complete the Hounds' one-two punch. Gene Carney and Capt. Ed Kowalewski chipped in 260 and 225 points respectively, for a 9.6 and 8.4 average.

In games contested a week prior to the playoff, the Hounds shattered several records. By thumping Red Shield Boy's Club, 103 to 36, the victors broke a high-scoring mark which they had set earlier in the season and the number of field goals by one team by tallying 43.

St. Paul's Number 19

St. Paul's became triumph number 19 as the Frosh dribblers won easily, 69 to 31. Doherty and Carney were the big guns with 18 and 15 apiece.

The Freshmen then traveled to American University and strengthened their hold on first place by downing the Eagles' Frosh, 46 to 33. The victors were ahead by 11 points at halftime, 20 to 9, and yielded no ground to their zone-playing opponents in the final sesson. Gene Carney led the attack with 11 points.

In their next start, the Junior Hounds bowed to Hopkins Frosh on that eventful night at Homewood. Both teams led at various stages of the game, until the final two minutes when the Jays pulled away and won by six points, 51 to 45.

In their final start before the title affair, the Green and Grey ran down Cobo All-Stars, 76-55.

Lind Scores Last-Season Goal As "Crumbs" Take Mural Title

by Clark Corcoran

Coming from behind in the last 30 seconds, with a one-hand jump shot by Tommy Lind, Hergles' Little Crumbs downed the Bulldogs in the finals of the Intramural Basketball Tournament to capture the champion's crown on Wednesday, March 15.

This finale was a fitting climax to an exciting season. Both teams had compiled an impressive record during regular play in garnering their division championships. The Gremlins, the other league winner, were eliminated early in the tourney.

Hessenauer Sparks Winners

In the big game the Crumbs, sparked by Harry Hessenauer, jumped to a 3-to-3 first-quarter lead. Then the 'Dogs came to life and made a real contest out of it. John Darell, who tied Hessenauer for scoring honors with 11 points, and Joe Kirby hit from all points on the floor.

The lead was cut to three points, 14 to 11, at half time, and the third period ended with the Crumbs holding on by the slim margin of 22 to 20.

Bulldogs Take Lead

Midway in the final quarter the Bulldogs edged in front, 25 to 24. With only one half minute remaining, they held on to this slight lead and began freezing the ball. The champs' unblemished record seemed to be going down the drain when Lind grabbed the ball and headed up the court.

About eight feet from the basket he jumped and turned, looking for someone to whom he could pass it off. Finding no one, and at the last moment, before touching the ground, he let go with a sensational shot which swished the cords for the game-winning tally.

The lineups:

BULLDOGS				HERGLES' LITTLE CRUMBS
	G.	F.	T.		G.	F.	T.
Wintz	1	3	5	Hessenauer	5	1	9
Morris	0	0	0	Siass	3	3	9
Ward	0	1	1	Lind	3	0	6
Fairace	1	0	2	Kane	1	0	2
Darell	4	3	11	McCormick	0	2	2
	10	9	29		12	6	30

The much delayed howling tournament is now under way. Action is taking place in the afternoons at the nearby Gullford Alleys. Complete returns from the first round have not been received, but from the figures that have come in the tournament promises to be a high-scoring affair.

'48, '44-45 In First-Place Tie

By sweeping its three games with the team of '49 on March 14, one game by a margin of only two pins, the team of '44-45 climaxed a long uphill battle by moving into a tie with '48 for first place. The team of '48 slipped into this tie through inactivity, since it had drawn the bye for this week. The only other change in the standings came when '42 moved up into a tie for fourth place with '40.

Two members of the team of '44-45 captured the honors for individual performance for the week. Joe Gessler's 136 was ten pins above the second highest individual game of the week, and Frank Sands' 343 was quite enough to give him the high three-game set of the week.

Pitching, Midfield Depth Viewed As Reitz's, Baker's Bugaboo; Track, Golf Rely On Vets

Baseball

The first game, April 4, is only a week and a half away, and coach Lefty Reitz has his prospectees hustling in anticipation of a busy season. Much of the early practice has been indoors because of inclement weather.

As usual the big question lies in the pitching. "Chunky" Don Donohue, mainstay of last year's staff, is among the many returning veterans as are hurlers Charlie Sybert, John Amer, Carl Bekels, and Don Semesky, the lone southpaw.

George Franz returns to his old entching post in a move that sends Mike Zedalls, also a capable receiver, into the outfield. Jim Wintz and Jack Doyle are candidates for first while a possible double-play combination of Reds Schneider and Tom Lind, second and short respectively, has looked good. Mel Wright, a holdover from last season, should be at third.

The outfield appears well taken care of with such fleet-footed gardeners as Capt. "Pooh" Linarill, Bill Tucker, and Jimmy Bullington.

Lacrosse

Coach Bish Baker's stickmen have been working out for over three weeks, trying to sharpen up their offense and defense in preparation for a busy afternoon on April 1, when they entertain Johns Hopkins, at Evergreen.

At present the Greyhound attack appears to be the strongest part of the team, with last year's close-in threesome of Jai Whalen, Eddie Miller, and Frank Kimmel back to plague the opposition's defense.

The midfield will have returnees Fred Carozza and George Elsen-but on tap, together with newcomers Tom and Charlie Wagner, Al Sisson, Jack Seal, and Bob Bradley. Bradley can be used equally well at attack and on the midfield.

Defensive holdovers include four-year-men goalie Skip Barry and crease specialist Don Gillotti, plus George Thomas, Frank Potterfield, Boh Freeze, Gene Finley, Frank Michael, and Buddy Green also figure to augment the defense.

Tennis

Though perhaps not as strong as in previous years, the tennis outlook for this spring is far from dismal. With Capt. Jerry Laroque returning for his fourth year, Ed Ward for his third and John Darrell and Tom McDermott from last year's championship team, Vince Colimore's racketeers seem once again assured of one of the top rungs on the Mason-Dixon tennis ladder.

With Freshmen Bill Barnett and Bernie Bateman on hand plus Jack Sehanberger, Jack Gunning, Bill Monaghan and a few others from the B-squad, a well-balanced tennis team seems to be in the making.

The schedule opens with Towson Teachers on April 4, and Colgate University on April 6.

Track

With three weeks of practice under its belt, the track squad is slowly but surely rounding into shape for its season of cinderpath activity. A schedule of six meets plus the annual Mason-Dixon tournament lies ahead of the trackmen.

Because of the weather conditions, the majority of the team's practice sessions have been held indoors with stress being placed on callsthenies and the developing of stride.

The squad has been working out under the watchful eye of Coach Bill McElroy. In addition, the distance runners are being shown the tricks of the trade by George Brown, while the sprinters are being tutored by Jack Brunk. Captain Walt Snyth is handling the hurdlers, and Mr. Alphonse Pletschette, who was recently named assistant coach, is developing the weight men.

Golf

With Jack Cronin, top collegiate golfer in the state, Jack Simanski, Mel Beeler, and Jim Pelisek, returning vets from last year's powerful squad, the Greyhound Hawksmen show signs of having one of the most potent teams in recent years.

The services of John Bailey and Bill Cronin, lost through graduation, will be missed by Coach Irvin Schloss, but he will have several talented replacements. Among these is Walt Sibilski, who performed for Western Maryland previous to playing baseball at Evergreen last spring.

In 1949 the Greyhounds who were nosed out in both the Mason-Dixon and state tournaments, are in high hopes of faring better this year.

Washington Loses

Loyola College's cagers dumped Washington College, by a score of 68 to 51, on February 25 here at Evergreen.

The Green and Gray, minus the services of Vince Gallagher and Frank Barrett, who were sidelined with injuries, managed to establish an early lead and were never really in trouble.

Nick Seallion, the Shoremen's high-scoring ace, found the Evergreen baskets to his liking as he paced the visitors with a 21-point output.

Zedalis Sparks Loyola Cagers For Three Years

Michael Zedalis

Freeland, Pennsylvania's greatest gift to Loyola is Michael John Zedalis, an All-Tournament Choice in the Mason-Dixon court wars for three straight years.

This year he really came into his own when he developed as a floor-player and steadied his mates when the going got rough. When the cage season is over Mike moves to the diamond where he has caught for the Hound bingers for two years.

Mike was born on January 5, 1927, in Freeland. He attended Freeland High School, where he played varsity basketball and sandlot baseball.

Mike entered the service in 1946 and was stationed at Brook Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. In his last year the Brook Cagers won the world-wide service basketball championship.

Mike decided to enter Loyola after his discharge when his hometown buddy Andy O'Donnell came here. Later he persuaded Bob Anderson, with whom he played in the service, to come here.

He wants to play pro basketball or baseball in the future. He has already been approached by five clubs in the N. B. A.

Besides his activities on the court and diamond, the big redhead has recently been elected president of the Athletic Association and also of the Block L Club. He is also a Cosmopolitan Club officer.

Glee Club Presents 3 Spring Rehearsals

The Loyola College Glee Club has scheduled three concerts for the spring season, according to Mr. Felice Iula, moderator of the club.

The club will lend their voices to a concert by the Associated Male Chorus of Maryland which will be held at the Maryland Yacht Club on April 18.

The following Sunday at 8:00 p.m. the club will present a concert at the auditorium at Mt. St. Agnes College.

Highlights of the year will be the annual Spring Concert which will be held at the Alcazar on May 5. The Club will be dressed in formal attire. A dance will follow.

Rifle Club Defeats Princeton Group

For the first time in its three-year history the Rifle Club of Loyola College has won a match. The riflemen defeated the Rifle Club of Princeton University by forfeit.

The club practices weekly on the old Calvert School Range. They recently obtained 10 guns from the Director of Civilian Marksmanship to replace their older weapons.

William Volenick is president of the club, while Hans Wilhelmson is vice-president. Joseph Bartolomeo is secretary, and Neal Smith is treasurer. Mr. Henry Hergenroeder is moderator of the Club.

Lee Oratory Medal To Be Awarded

The annual Lee Oratorical Contest will be held in the Library next Friday afternoon at 3:30. This contest is open to all Loyola students who desire to participate and who have signified their intentions to the Office of the Dean.

The Lee Gold Medal for Oratory will be awarded to the winning student. Speakers will be judged on delivery, posture and content of their speech.

This medal is awarded on behalf of Mrs. Josephine Lee. Later in the year the Jenkins Gold Medal for Debate, founded by Austin Jenkins, will be awarded after the Annual Prize Debate.

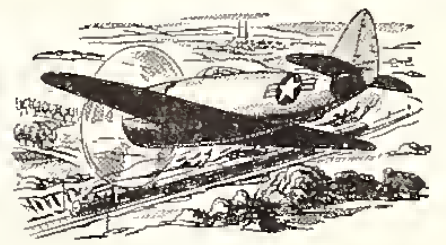

Major Roy Carlson, U. of Iowa, Training Executive, U.S. Air Force!

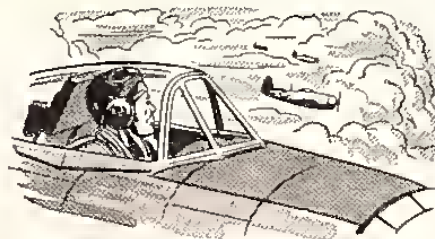

Born in Red Oak, Iowa, Roy graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School at Council Bluffs. He was ready to enter the University when war changed his mind.

He went to work at Consolidated Vultee in San Diego, building PBV's and B-24's. But it wasn't long until he had put in his application for Aviation Cadet training.

Cadet Carlson won his wings in April, 1943, was assigned to P-47 "Thunderbolts" with the 368th Fighter Group in England, to break ground for the Normandy invasion.

Roy completed 125 combat missions, leading many of them, supporting the invasion and the advances on into Germany. Won Air Medal, D. F. C., many other decorations. Promoted to Captain, then to Major.

Back home, he married the lovely Army nurse from Lowell, Massachusetts, whom he had met at Cannes, France. After the honeymoon, he returned to finish his studies at the University of Iowa.

Major Carlson is now Chief of Operations, 2471st Air Force Reserve Training Center, at O'Hare International Airport, near Chicago. Has two husky sons, a fine job, a great career still ahead of him!
